Headline:
Rain becoming heavy in west. Hill snow in north.

Today:
A cloudy day with outbreaks of rain. The rain will become persistent and heavy over the west Highlands this afternoon and evening. Still cold enough for some snow in far north, mainly higher ground in Sutherland and Caithness. Maximum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Tonight:
A cloudy night with further rain, heavy and persistent in west but lighter, patchy towards Inverness and Easter Ross. Most areas will be frost-free with winds becoming lighter. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Monday:
Cloudy with further rain, heavy at times. The rain will turn to snow over high ground in the afternoon before clearing southwards early in the evening. Drier, colder weather following. Maximum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Mainly dry, sunny, cold on Tuesday with light winds. Rain preceded by snow on hills crossing all parts on Wednesday. Drier, brighter Thursday with scattered showers and strong northwesterly winds.
